

DEPARTMENT OF MODERN LANGUAGES AND LITERATURES

The Department of Modern Languages and Literatures offers a major in Spanish designed to develop the student's specialized knowledge of culture, literature, and language. The department also offers a major in Modern Language Studies, which gives students the opportunity to study various cultural aspects of a language area. Minors in French, German, Russian, Spanish, Comparative Literature, East Asian Studies, Foreign Languages (Chinese, Italian, Japanese, Korean), and Linguistics give students the opportunity to refine language skills, develop linguistic awareness, and acquire knowledge of a foreign culture and/or literature. Skills-development courses, which facilitate speaking, reading, writing, and understanding of a foreign language, are offered in these languages. Courses in comparative studies in the humanities relate literatures to the other arts and general currents of culture and humanistic thought, while coursework in linguistics focuses on general concepts of linguistic structure and meaning and relates language development to other areas of human understanding. Additional study abroad is strongly encouraged. The department also offers a major in Linguistics in the Local and Global Community. The department also offers courses in Media Studies, which allow students to put into practice their theoretical studies in the humanities.

Department Honors

A student whose grade point average in courses taken at UTSA is at least 3.0, whose grade point average in upper-division courses in one of the fields offered as a major in the department is at least 3.5, and who has completed 18 semester credit hours at the upper-division level in the major (24 hours for Spanish) may petition the undergraduate faculty advisor to enroll in the appropriate honors course (FL 4993 Honors Research, FRN 4993 Honors Research, GER 4993 Honors Research, or SPN 4993 Honors Research). If the student maintains the minimum grade point averages upon completion of the course, the Department Honors Committee will evaluate the project the student completed in the honors course and determine whether they will be awarded Department Honors.

Bachelor of Arts Degree in Linguistics in the Local and Global Community

The Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) in Linguistics in the Local and Global Community offers training in language-based, interdisciplinary studies, encompassing theoretical, applied, and pedagogical aspects of linguistics. The key purpose of the major is to broaden linguistic knowledge from an interdisciplinary perspective, enabling students to explore language as a significant tool for understanding cultures in an increasingly globalized environment.

The minimum number of semester credit hours required for this degree, including the hours in the Core Curriculum requirements, is 120. Thirty-nine of the total semester credit hours required for the degree must be at the upper-division level.

ANT 2053 is recommended to fulfill the Social and Behavioral Sciences core requirement.

All candidates seeking this degree must fulfill the Core Curriculum requirements and the degree requirements, which are listed below.

4. Upper-division Language Courses or Advanced Language Study Abroad Courses 6

Students may select 6 semester credit hours of upper-division language courses (i.e., Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Korean, Russian, or Spanish) or Advanced Language Study Abroad Courses.

Students may select upper-division language courses from section A.3 to fulfill this requirement if the course has not been applied to that section. Both upper-division language classes and other upper-division classes taught in a language other than English can count toward this requirement. Prior to enrolling in an upper-division language course, students must demonstrate proficiency equivalent to the 4th semester in a spoken/written/signed language other than English. To meet this proficiency, students must complete the Elementary I/II foreign language courses (course numbers 1014 and 1024) and Intermediate I/II courses (course numbers 2013 and 2023) or the comparable minimum CLEP score. After meeting this proficiency, students may take 6 credits of upper-division courses in that language.

Students may also select courses from below for the study abroad option:

FL 3033	Advanced Language Study Abroad
or FL 3036	Advanced Language Study Abroad

Other study abroad courses may apply to this option if approved by the student's advisor.

5. Additional Major Courses 3

Students must select 3 additional semester credit hours from sections A.2, A.3, or A.4.

B. Free Electives 48

Students may need to complete at least 48 hours of free electives, including 9-12 hours of upper-division coursework, in order to meet the 120-hour minimum required for the degree (including a minimum of 39 upper-division hours). Students may need to begin with an elementary-level or intermediate-level language course to satisfy the lower-division language proficiency requirements to take upper-division language courses in the major. Students needing to complete lower-division coursework will need fewer free elective credits to satisfy minimum degree requirements.

Total Credit Hours 78

Bachelor of Arts Degree in Modern Language Studies

The major in Modern Language Studies addresses the growing need for students to prepare for the demands brought about by globalization and the increased national focus on international security. It provides the opportunity for UTSA students to graduate with an emphasis in a single language area according to their individual career interests. It is designed to give students the opportunity to structure their program in a variety of concentrations, including double majors. By selecting the Modern Language Studies major, students receive a well-rounded humanistic education and prepare themselves for jobs requiring a flexible liberal arts degree, among them careers in government, national security, public service, teaching, international business, banking, international media, communications, tourism, foreign relations, and publishing. The Modern Language Studies major also develops skills, knowledge, and cultural awareness which provide a solid foundation for successful work in graduate studies in the humanities and social sciences, as well as in law and medicine. The Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) in Modern Language Studies is available to students of languages which offer upper-division courses at UTSA. For students of Spanish, these needs are met by the Bachelor of Arts degree in Spanish.

The following optional components are strongly recommended:

1. Study Abroad
Study abroad in the target language environment will give students the opportunity to further enhance their language and culture skills. Students are encouraged to include a semester or at least a summer abroad in their degree plan.
2. Languages Across the Curriculum
1-semester-credit-hour language courses offered online (FL 3101 Languages Across the Curriculum) will complement the student's elective courses in other disciplines, such as history and political science. These add-on components will mirror the topics taught in the regular courses.

The minimum number of semester credit hours required for the B.A. degree in Modern Language Studies, including the hours in the Core Curriculum requirements, is 120. Thirty-nine of the total semester credit hours required for the degree must be at the upper-division level. Students seeking teacher certification should consult the Interdisciplinary Education Advising and Certification Center for information.

All candidates seeking this degree must fulfill the Core Curriculum requirements and the degree requirements, which are listed below.

Core Curriculum Requirements (42 semester credit hours)

Students seeking the B.A. degree in Modern Language Studies must fulfill University Core Curriculum requirements in the same manner as other students. If courses are taken to satisfy both a degree requirement and a Core Curriculum requirement, then students may need to take additional courses in order to meet the minimum number of semester credit hours required for this degree.

Elementary Language I course number 1014, CSH 1103, CSH 1113, CSH 1213, or CSH 2113 should be used to satisfy the core requirement in Language, Philosophy and Culture.

Minor in Comparative Literature

The Minor in Comparative Literature offers an opportunity to study texts in a manner that transcends national and linguistic boundaries. It enables students to develop, through their majors, a solid grounding in one particular tradition (e.g., English, Spanish, French) or one discipline (e.g., history, music) while also embracing a broader perspective through the minor. A student minoring in comparative literature may wish to pursue graduate work in comparative literature or in a specific national literary tradition or to pursue a career in translation, teaching, publishing, or writing. The Minor in Comparative Literature fosters the sophistication appropriate to a liberal arts degree.

All students pursuing the Minor in Comparative Literature must complete 18 semester credit hours.

Minor in Foreign Languages

The Minor in Foreign Languages offers an opportunity to increase proficiency in reading, writing, speaking, and listening skills in a foreign language. The minor will lead to the acquisition of metalinguistic skills and an enhanced understanding of the target culture and its orientation to world communication.

All students pursuing the Minor in Foreign Languages must complete 18 semester credit hours with all language skill courses at the 2000 level and above.

Minor in Translation and Interpreting Studies

The minor in Translation and Interpreting Studies (TIS) is intended for students with an interest in translation and interpreting between English and Spanish. The minor provides students with an opportunity to develop awareness of both the theory and the practice of language mediation in various settings, including healthcare and legal settings. The minor will provide a coherent program of study for students with intermediate-high to advanced proficiency in Spanish who are attracted to learning how to leverage their language skills in professional settings, and it will be of special interest to students interested in working in the fields of education, medicine, social work, criminal justice, and law. Coursework in the minor is supported and enhanced by existing coursework in advanced-level Spanish language, as well as linguistics.

All students pursuing the Minor in Translation and Interpreting Studies must complete 18 semester credit hours.
